STRENGTHENING EXPOSED POSITIONS ON THE PRONTIERS.

The Czar's Anger at the Grand Duke-Kaiser William's Proposed Tour-No Mediation Wanted in Ireland-A Riot

VIENNA, April 8.—The Austrian Government, not being reassured by Russia's denial of unfriendly designs, has already concentrated large bodies of troops at Tarnopol and Brody, to watch the Gallcian frontier. The Tenth Corps, under Renlander, has been reinforced by a portion of the First Corps, and Prince Waindisch Groetz of the Eleventh, is watching the frontier with a large force of cavalry. Count Hartenau, Foreign Secretary of Prince Alexandria of Bulgaria, who is now an officer in the Austrian service, has, it is stated, been called into consultation at the War Office, with the view of utilizing his services in an important command. The Austrian authorities have great confidence in the abilities of the Prince, which were proven in the war between Servia and Bulgaria. It is said that the Austrian Government has important in-formation from Russia, which is the basis of the warlike precautions.

GERMANY'S PERCAUTIONS.

BERLIN, April 8.—By an understanding with Austria Germany has begun to increase the forces near the Russian frontier crease the forces near the Russian fronter and to hasten the completion of works intended to facilitate transportation of troops. All indications go to show that a Russian invasion would be met by formidable armies, whether first directed against Austria or Germany or both countries at once. On the French side Germany has a series of fort-resses that could not fail to delay invasion long enough to give ample time for the con-

THE CZAR'S PERIL.

DETAILS OF THE ATTEMPT MADE TO ASSASSIN ATE HIM TESTERDAY.
St. PETERSBURG, April 8.—The story of the attempt on the Russian Czar's life, as briefly cabled yesterday, is told as follows: Tuesday, according to the Russian calendar, is the 2th of North. streat coat. When requested to do so he made some excuse, but afterwards consented to take it off, going to an ante-room for the Purpose, Here he was arrested by a detective in citizen's clothes and a Smith & Wesson revolver and a globule containing what is supposed to be some powerful explosive were found on him. The prisoner gives the name of Skeameikin and declares that the contents of the globule is merely a well-known medicine. Skeameikin is said to be from some provincial city, coming here for the express purpose of assassingting the Czar, and this is thought by the dice to be a continuation of the conspiracy follouded by Sophia Gansbury. The Baro however, preferred to maintain the seclusion which he has courted since the international row ending in his recall began, and so de-clined the honor. His intimate friends, how-ever, would not permit him to depart with-out some evidence of their affection, and so out some evidence of their amection, and so a large party went to the depot to say good-by and wish him bon voyage. Nearly all of the more conspicuous diplomats were in the station, including Sir Julian Pauncefote, accompanied by his wife and laughter, Count Arco Valley of Germany, hevelier Tavera of Australia, Senor Romero of Mexico, Dr. Guzman of Nicaragua and M. Roustan of France, besides less distinguished Roustan of France, besides less distinguished foreigners, including several secretaries and attaches. It was apparently a very gay party, although all hearts were supposed to be filled with sorrow at the approaching loss of their friend. The three young American women who presented the flowers to the Baron made up in volubility for the absence of their fair sisters. GOOD-BYE BARON.

As the train pulled out the Baron made a striking picture standing on the platform, his arms filled with flowers, his hat at his feet and his white head bobbing good-by to his friends. His fellow passengers and the large crowd which had gathered at the gates were highly entertained and some of them attempted to get up a cheer as the train passed out of sight and the party of chattering foreigners; and Americans returned to their carriages. It is still said by the Baron's friends, posits in the national and provincial banks, and offering depositors the option of taking international bonds in exchange for their deposits. reply to this letter from President Harrison said that he entirely approved of the conduct of the fiellan Government, adding at the same time that he hoped and desired that an agreement should be arrived at.

Contrary to the foregoing many well informed people here declare that the Fava recall incident was precipitated on account of the New Orleans affair in order to afford the Italian Ministry reasons for its fallure to effect the promised reductions in the army, navy and other National expenditures.

The Italian to day expresses the opinion that Americans have but one God—their strong box. It says further "in this strong box we must strike them, demanding the largest possible indemnity. On their tongue there is but one word—'dollars' let us take advantage of it."

Death of the Veteran Showman-Chief In cidents in His Remarkable Life.

BRIDGEFORT, Conn., April 8.—At 6:30 o'clock yesterday evening Phineas Taylor Barnum breathed his last after an illness of twenty-one weeks. When he saw the approach of not prolong his stay on earth he dismissed them and spent the waiting hours of the afternoon and evening listening to the talk of his family and spiritual counselor. He said he was prepared and not afraid to die. As he he was prepared and not afraid to die. As he grew weaker he answered questions by lifting his eyes and smiling. Though 81 years of age his frame was still vigorous but when the dissolution begun, wasted away rapidly and from 10 o'clock in the morning when he begansinking his pulse went steadily down until he died at 6:30 o'clock. His death was peaceful and quiet and in the midst of a loving family who were at his bedside. The funeral will take place at Mountain Grove Cemetery in the western part of the city where he had erected a handsome monument on the family lot. Rev. L. B. The Rocky Mountain News, however, put Rogers' majority at 1,500, while at the Republican office last night the figures were stated at from 3,900 to 5,000. Returns from various points in the State show that yesterday was something of a Democratic silde, as the gain of that party will reach 35 per cent. KANSAS CITT, Mo., April 8.—The results of the election in Kansas yesterday, as shown from the latest returns, indicate that the following cities and towns were carried by the Republicans: Topeka by a small majority, Kansas City by a greatly reduced majority. Atchison, Ottawa, Clay Center, Garden City, Lawrence, Holton, Great Bend, Eureka, Beloit, Leavenworth and Wichita were carried by the Democrats, but by greatly reduced majorities. Abilene, Yates Center and Arkansas City elected the Citizens' Alliance tickets. In Dodge City the anti-Prohibition ticket was elected. Ottawn elected candidates from each of the tickets. PRESS COMMENTS ON THE CONTEST.
The Herald (Dem.) this morning has the following victous drive at ex-Mayor Carter H. Harrison, who ran for the Mayoralty on an Independent Democratic ticket:
Harrison deliberately knifed the Democratic party. At the last moment, fearful of the result, like a craven coward, he abandoned the ticket and betrayed the party to the Republicans. Again has been enceted the role of the ingrate and the traitor. It is the success of a Jadas Iscariot. It is the success of a Benedict Arnold.

In the House to-day there was a bare and somewhat groggy quorum. The only measures of importance were bills introduced by Representative Ed Merritt of Sangamon and Capt. Farrell of Cook. Ed Merritt's bill is a World's Fair bill, following out the lines he laid down a fortnight ago in his somewhat famous resolution directed against the State Board of Agriculture. Merritt's resolution sought to take the Illinois State exhibit away from the Agricultural Board and place it in the hands of a specially appointed commission. The bill has similar provisions and again throws safeguards about the appropriation, the letting of con-

The Senate held a deep and solemn session.
Empty seats swung idly in the breeze and the legislative machinery creaked three times.
The first was when Senator Newell's bill became a law, making it possible to transfer suits from wrong courts, into which they had by mistake been entered, into the proper court without prejudice. The second creak occurred when gracious permission granied justices of the towns of Jetterson, Hyde Park and Lakeview by the passage of Senatar Humphrey's bill. CLOSE OF THE COLORADO LEGISLATURE.

DENVER, Colo., April 8.—The Eighth General Assembly has adjourned sine die. It has accomplished but little. The early days of the House were taken up in a disgraceful row over the Speakership, which lasted for weeks and resulted in the killing of Police Inspector Hawley and the seriously wounding of one of his men. Its other work can be summed up in the election of Henry M. Teller to the United States Senate, passage of the Australian system of balloting and the metropolitan police and fire bill and the appropriation of $100,000 for the World's Fair. The most important measure which they refused to enact was a railroad bill and a bill providing for a constitutional amendment to bond the State's indebtness. Both of these measures were demanded by the people, and the last was considered of the greatest importance as the actions of the Seventh Assembly greatly increased the debt and to some extent injured the State's credit. CLAIMS TO BE HYPNOTIZED.

A Queer Case Under Investigation at Kansas City, Mo., April 8.—The police are investigating a peculiar case. For some time a young woman has been making purchases from a prominent dry goods house, using the name of a well-known society woman. To day the fact that the woman was not the person she represented herself to be was found out and she was immediately placed under arrest. When taken to the police station she claimed that she was hypnotized and made the purchases by some other will than her own. To guard her as much as possible, Cohen instructed her that he would sit facing her as she was on the witness stand and place Lawyer Baker between them. She had learned that statements had been made in which the whole blame was being thrown upon her shoulders and she decided to give up all the information she possessed.

ANOTHER NOONAN VETO

HOW THE SOUTHERN RAILWAY BILL WAS KILLED.

ome Very Peculiar Circumstances Surrounding the Proceeding—Maj. Wherry Asked to Wait Until 6 O'clock—What

Council bill No. 51, with a message accom-panying it. In his message he attempts to explain why he vetoes the bill, and also sends letter from Maj. Murphy as an additional reason for his action.

The bill vetoed is one granting to the South St. Louis Railway, the Sixth street line, the privilege of extending its tracks from Sixth and Market up Broadway o Wash street and back down Sixth. to Wash street and back down Sixth.

During the afternoon the Mayor telephoned to Register Wherry asking him how late he would remain in his office. Word was sent back that Mr. Wherry would be there until 6 o'clock, and the Mayor sent back an argent request that Maj. Wherry remain until that hour as there was important business awaiting him.

About 6 o'clock the vetoed bill and the two letters, one from the Mayor and one from the Street Commissioner, were sent to the Register, and the messenger insisted upon getting a receipt for the papers. Maj. Wherry gave the requested receipt and put the papers on file.

The two letters speak for themselves. The one from the Mayor is as follows:

THE MAYOR'S LETTER.

Hon. Joseph A. Wherry, City Register, City Hell:

DEAR SIR-I herewith return Council bill No. 51 without my approval. The law expects are to give reasons for the vetoes of bills. The reason for this veto is that Broadway shall not be hampered by any further street car influence. This is the great street of our city and our people in the years to come will need its freedom from obstructions. I have consulted the street commissioner, whose report I append to this veto and therefore make it part of it. The policy of this administration has been and will continue to be wide latitude to all that is necessary in the building of a modern city, but in all cities at least a few streets should be sacred for public travel, and, in my judgment, Broadway, in this city, should be secured to the public for this purpose.

Maj. Murphy's letter which accompanies the Mayor's veto letter is written on a single sheet of paper with the heading, "Mayor's office" at the top of it. Maj. Murphy put forth, by request, his arguments as follows:

MAJ. MURPHY'S LETTER.

MAYOR'S OFFICE.

ST. LOUIS, APRIE 6, 1891.

Hen. E. A. Noonan, Mayor:

at 39c.

Mayor Noonan on Monday afternoon at 6 o'clock sent to Register Wherry the veto of Council bill No. 81, with a message accom-

Broadway from market savet of Market street. Councer to extend their line north of Market street. Council Bill No. 31., grants permission to the Southern Railway Co. to place electric wires on the tracks from Market street to Wash street along the route indicated above.

As the Broadway Co. is now operating the tracks on Broadway with cable power, the placing of electric wires along the same line would in my opinion be undvisable at this time because of the constant use by pedestrians and the crowded condition as the leading retail thoroughfare of the City. Respectfully, My. Murrity.

In the arguments of the Mayor and Maj. Murphy the strongest point they try to make is that Broadway is now so crowded that it would be an ill-advised move to allow electric wires to go up there, when the fact is that electric cars do run over Broadway from Pine street to Christy avenue. She circumstances surrounding the veto and the manner of its doing, and the relations of Maj. Murphy with the street car men make a very peculiar case. In this case, as in all others since the Branhan-Johnson gas bill veto, the Mayor, instead of withholding his signature, marked the bill "not approved," and then signed is name to it.

She said that she had supported herself and had often supplied Mr. Avery with clothes.
When asked what she knew of the insanity in the Avery family she said:
"The grandmother hung herself with a towel or a skein of yarn, I don't know which; a twin brother drowned himself; Bill Avery shot himself, and a cousin hacked himself and a cousin hacked himself. with a razor, drank copperss and finally threw himself into a well. He was not killed,

She related the circumstances of her early acquaintance with Avery and their relations during their married life. Then she told of how she had agreed to marry Millington, if she could secure a divorce from Avery.

She denied all of the stories about her illicit relations with Millington, and in her version of the many incidents took all the point out of them and rather weakened the ease of the prosecution.

THE belated and cautious support given by the Democratic organ to the Democratic ticket after its success had been assured is now put by the organ itself distinctly on the ground that the apparition of an Independent Municipal ticket had forced the than they would otherwise have presented. As if not so very certain after all of the decency of the Democratic Councilmen-elect, it warns them that they must walk straight, because the Independent vote "reveals a growing independence among the voters of the city" which may down the Democrats in the next election.

The registration of St. Louis contained ess than three-fourths of the persons enitled to vote, and the vote cast at yesterday's election was less than two-thirds of the registration. Much less than a majority of a full vote was polled, and the successful ticket failed to receive a majority of that small vote. The Republican and Independent votes added together exceed the Democratic vote several thousands. The Independent vote, increased by the imbered all the votes cast for both the

The 12,000 polled for the Independent icket may be safely counted as the sponaneous protest of 12,000 voting Republicans and Democrats against the policy of surrendering the control of municipal affairs to the political organization of either party. It was a movement to organize a municipal party whose candidates would be nominated and run on a distinctly municipal platform. But it lacked anything worthy of the name of an organization. It had not time to hold ward meetings and had not time to hold ward meetings and perfect a general popular organization.

The vote under the circumstances distinctly proves that St. Louis is neither Democratic nor Republican in city elections; that it is by default only that either of the political parties carries a city election, and that there are, beyond the control of either, votes enough to keep the city's affairs always in the hands of a properly organized and properly animated dependent Municipal party.

A SKULKING CLAIMANT.

The morning circulation skulker of St. Louis, whose every representation is a fraud, and whose every advertisement represents a swindle on the advertiser, permits itself to make the following remark in its editorial columns about the Post-

The afternoon Post-Disparch is struggling desperately against the decline and fall of its Sunday annex, but it is struggling against

This is one of those stereotyped exhibitions of mendacity which are supposed to be highly humorous by canebrake editors occustomed to measure circulation by cordwood and pumpkins, and it would not be worth noticing except for one circum

That circumstance is the fact that fifty of the leading advertisers of St. Louis have recently requested the canebrake editor to let them know what was the city and country circulation of his daily and Sunday edition. They desired to substitute proof for wind and facts for lies, but thus far they have not succeeded in getting the consent of the canebrake editor.

As they are unable to get any information on a point of so much importance from that skulking fournal we will improve the occasion to state that the circulation of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH for every Sunday this year has been larger than any circulation ever known in the office of the Republic, that the city circulation of the SUNDAY POST-DISPATCH exceeds that of the Sunday Republic two to one, and the week day-

While we make these statements on th paper has had but one rule of action whe challenged on the question of circulation and that was to sneak and to skulk, to dodge, to quibble, to evade, to do every thing except take a manly stand and let it customers know the truth.

The Vote by Wards.

The winning ticket, the Democratic, shows that all of the political prophets were wrong in some of their predictions. The first one was that Oullinane would lead the ticket and

INDIGNANT CITIZENS IN THE SIX-TEENTH WARD CALL A MEETING.

Five Hundred Dollars Raised to Prosecu Alleged Election Frauds-Six Warrants for Various Offenses at the Election Issued To-Day-The Law on Repeating -Criminal Prosecutions.

"Is the Independent movement collapsed as a result of yesterday's calamity?" asked a Post-Disparce man of Frank R. O'Neil this morning.

"Not a bit of it," was the laughing response. "You have properly termed the result a calamity, but it's not a tragedy. The Independent movement was not started in order to advance the interests of any single man or clique, or to elect a certain ticket. It was born of the very general dissatisfation concerning the methods and character of our municipal servants—which dissatisfaction was abundantly proven yesterday. Its mission was to provide a remedy for and, if possible, effect a cure of the disease which person in the passed the window of the little room in the passed the window of the little room in the rear of the barber shop a large bundle of paper was thrown out a few feet in front of him. "A few of them—yes; but not the wise mong them. These latter will reflect that that when 12,000 citizens, disregarding party spur and the crack of party whip, tear themselves away from party organizations and accept the reputation of 'political renegade'—so odious to most people, it means a deepseated conviction that there is occasion for resolution; and that when an army of 12,000 can be enlisted in eight weeks, without incentive of any kind except the hope for public good, there is a spirit at work that will require little more heat to make the army twice as large. And they will realize, too, that the people have been brought to study City Hall affairs much more closely than ever before. The few whom the victory may make giddy will probably be led into a recklessness which cannot but emphasize the lesson the Independents have sought to teach."

"But as to the future of the Independents?"

"The movement is neither dead nor sle ng. Office was not its utilinate aim, but was simply sought as a means. Failure, there-fore, does not mean disbandment. The movement will go quietly on. It has cut the City Hall vote down to 40 per cent otwithstanding the most stren notwithstanding the most strenuous efforts of two party organizations and their thousands of retainers in public employ. It will keep at its work, regardless of unearned ridicule from newspapers which should sympathize with its alms, and notwithstanding the

"They spent possibly half as much as the party which triumphed. I have recommended that, as a healthy innovation in politics, a full statement of our expenses be given to the public, through the press. I think it will be done. We have none but clean items of expense, and as much solicitude has been expressed by the exponents of the boodlers lest we should corrunt someholy with money it will by the exponents of the boodiers lest we should corrupt somebody with money, it will probably have a salutary effect to show just how money has figured."

"What do you think will be the effect of the closely in the control of the c the election in the Democratic party?"

"Well, as to the main body of its voters,

Half a dozen of the re-elected and newly elected members of the House of Delegates dropped into the Clerk's office during the day to talk over the organization of the new House and congratulate each other upon being sent back to the House as Delegates. Tom Ward of the Twenty-fourth Ward has a lead in the race for the Speakership of the new body, and as there are eighteen Democrats he stands a very good chance. Delegate Townsend of the Twentieth Ward is also a candidate.

Tom Barrett, the Clerk two years ago, is a candidate for appointment to that position again and John E. Mohan.

Tom Barrett, the Clerk two years ago, is a candidate for appointment to that position again and John E. Mohan, ex-member of the House, is a candidate for the Secretaryship of the Council. The election of the entire Democratic Council ticket seals the fate of Secretary A. B. Metcalfe, who has held the place for the past four years.

HOTEL PERSONALS.

Pifty Republicans of the Seventy fifth Pre finct of the Sixteenth Ward held a meeting fund for the prosecution of two Democratic election judges who served in that precinct yesterday. The gentlemen who attended the meeting are representative citizens, and vowed in open meet-ing they would spare no energy or ing they would spare no energy or money in sending the two election judges to the penitentiary, if such is possible. The polling place was across the street from the engine house, on Twenty-second street, between Benton and North Market streets, in a barber shop, which was composed of a large front room and a small back room. About 20'clock yesterday afternoon Fred Torwegge, the contractor, who lives and has his shop at 1946 Benton street, walked out of the rear of his shop in the alley and approached the polling place. As he passed the window of the little room in the rear of the barber shop a large bundle of fused to allow him to enter, and kept the door locked and braced during the entire count. He closed the polling place until they returned. Lancelot Ryan, who was authorized by Recorder Carlisle to remain in the polling place during the count was ordered out by the Democratic judges but refused to go and after many threats he was allowed to remain. He was also kept out of the back room during the counting of the ballots by Democratic judges.

of the movement or punish the Judges, and a trial such allegations as these are established, said this morning; "It was the most daring robbery of ballots I ever saw or heard of. The Democratic Judges no doubt mistook Torwegge for a confederate when they threw the ballots out of the window and the mistake will cost them several years of their liberty, if combined influence and unlimited funds can do anything. About fifty prominent Republicans met in the rooms of Mr. Allenberg, the Republican candidate for the House, and it was only by long arguments of the cooler heads that violence upon the two Democratic Judges was averted last night. It was shown how an act of violence would injure the cause and it was decided to raise a fund and spend it in prosecuting and punishing the Democratic Judges. About $500 was pledged then and there. I have the ballots and tonight we will meet again, and with the aid of then and there. I have the ballots and tonight we will meet again, and with the aid of the poll books, of which we have a copy, we will find out who the twenty-five Republicans were who cast the ballots, as their numbers are on them and on many there is some handwriting which they will be able to identify.
These will be our witnesses. We have the evidence sufficient to punish them and are going to do it.''

after I o'clock this afternoon and was seen by a Post-Disparos reporter. He wore a very contented and satisfied air, but did not express any unusual station over the results of the election. He said:

"I knew a week ago that our majority would be over 4,000, and said so to several persons. The vote we got was not a surprise to me. The Republicans showed no activity to speak of and lost a great deal in that way. The Independents did not hurt us. I rather think they sapped the strength of the Republicans and left us untouched.

The Democrats were not as active as they should have been, and I met several people on election day who had given up the idea of voting because they were so certain of victory that they thought it would be no use."

"When will-you be heard from on appointments?" was asked.

There is no doubt that the operators are preparing to import men and are anxious to get possession of their houses. The operators are anxious to have the militia remain until after the evictions and are trying to impress upon Gen. Snowden the absolute necessity of the guards at that time. There is talk of forming a volunteer regiment of National Guardsmen to take the places of the State troops when they are withdrawn. This was done during the riots of 1877, the men remaining on duty three months. All expenses would be paid by the company instead of by the State.

Thirty more men applied and were given work at Morewood to-day, making 125 now drawing coke.

Sec. 4777 of the new election laws, which covers this point, says:

The average vote polled by the Republican the latter has, according to most estimates, a slight advantage.

Under the section above named it would appear that the Independents, if they cared to nominate a ticket at the next election ould dem and half the judges and clerks in every voting precinct in the city.

Dempster, who was in the chair, ruled that as the scale question was up the consideration of anything else was out of order, unless the convention ordered it by a two-thirds vote. When the vote was taken it was found to be strictly partisan and Mr. Penna's motion was lost. Subsequently Mr. Penna stated that the eight hour question was the most vital one before the convention and nothing else could be done until it was settled. The convention then decided to take up the matter this afternoon and an adjournment was taken until 20'clock. Immediately upon adjournment the operators and miners went into separate conferences to arrange for the coming battle.

OLYMPIC—"THE SOUDAN."

The popularity of Bud Mantz and the reputation which "The Soudan" brought to this city filled the Olympic Theater to the doors Monday night and standing room was at a premium. Such an audience deserved a better play. "The Soudan" is not without points of merit. The changes of scene, of which there are no less than fourteen, are excellently arranged, the costuming and stage mangement is excellent, and the actors as a rule more than do justice to their parts. But the demerits of the piece are inherent and cannot be disguised by the best handling. "The Soudan" is an intensely English melodrama, abounding in long soliliquies, istrained and unnatural situations, infant agony and remarkably heavy humor. The fourth act is the only redeeming feature of the play. The scenes in the desert, the assault upon the Arab city, the duel by the well and the return of the troops presents opportunities for spectacular effect that are fully utilized by the excellent company. But throughout the dialogue and monologue, of which the play mainly consists, is heavy, the torments of the children at Stonefield farm, and the agony of the mother are both painful and hackneyed, and the treatment lacks originality. The character of Capt. Temple is admirably taken by Henry Neville, and Frank Losse as Faul De Vigne does all that can be done to redeem his part from stagy mediocrity. Emma Vaders as Nellie Temple and Eleanor Month as Cora Gray are thoroughly accellent. The comedy is particularly heavy. Such delightful bits of wit as a bashful lover falling.

standing as finding his social connections and seeking his wife among the Gentiles. The point of novelty in this lies in the fact that it is treated as a commonplace incident, and there is not the slightest suggestion of racial differences, except in the matter of the picture of Christ in the banker's home, the whole treatment of which must be regarded as theatrical ciaptrap. Another unusual point in the play is the prominence it gives to the question of purely moral responsibility, which, however, is regarded from the conventional religious standpoint, and also involves some claptrap and sentimental gush which, however, may be regarded as allowable in view of the effect obtained. The plot is complicated, but in two scenes at least is concentrated into strong situations, one of them being exceptionally intense. This is the scene in which William Prescott assumes the responsibility for a robbery by slipping the handcuffs intended for his falsely accused friend upon his own wrists.

The rotanda as a try life is well told and he stands as a typical American Lochinvar; thanks to the glamor of dramatic art. In the title role Mr. Mayo is as honest and straightforward in his work as Crockett was in real life and he gives the only buckskin hero on the stage of to-day about whom there is a time at mosphere of genuineness and true vitality. Miss Kathleen Kerrigan makes a winning and loyal Eleanor Vaughn, and straige or feet of the support is good, and the scenic effects of the Crockett mountain home, Davy's hunting crib, the attack by wolves in the scene in which William Prescott assumes the responsibility for a robbery by slipping the handcuffs intended for his falsely accused friend upon his own wrists.

He sent a defiant reply and threatened a suit for libel.

The story of the play is sufficiently interesting and the construction is clever, while comedy scenes are ingeniously intertwined with the serious situations. Much of the comedy is exceedingly frivolous, verging at times upon imbecilic silliness, but it serves its purposes and is relieved here and there by genuine brightness, of the strength of the play in parts and of its general wholesomeness and entertaining qualities there can be no question.

For the company and the production nothing but praise can be written. The performance is harmoniously and evenly strong and artistic and the production is admirable in all points. It would be difficult to indicate one bad point in the cast and the work is so uniformly good that the weaknesses of the play are redeemed. It is not discriminating against others with less and different work to mention Sidney Ormstrong as Agnes Rodman, W.m. Morris as William Prescott, Frank Mordaunt as stephen Rodman, stronger perhaps in sustained character than any, and Maude Adams as deserving of especial praise for serious work and M. A. Kennedy, J. C. Buckstone, Odette Tyler and Etta Hawkins as exceptionally bright in comedy. De Belleville, Orrin Johnson, Lesile Allen, R. A. Roberts and the others are satisfactory. ness and bravery. George I., Montserrat is the Ivan Zotoff and Chas. J. Edwards makes a deep-dyed villatin of Jarrawitz. J. C. Huffman plays the part of Sidorski, Jarrawitz's subordinate. Miss Lilian Brainerd is good as Yera, the wife of Ivan Zotoff, and little Claire as their child, Louise, does some bright work with Andreas Hopper, the soft-hearted mountaineer. Miss Kate Foley makes a pretty peasant character of Hulda, the sweetheart of Andreas, while Miss Blair as Loris, the supposed deaf mute, a Russian female spy, does some strong acting. The scenes vary from the German mountains to the Siberian frontier.

Peck & Furshman's"Uncle Tom's Cabin' is the attraction at the Standard and is drawing good houses. Kitty Edwards is Topsy, little Cora is Eva, G. T. Dorsey takes the part of Uncle Tom and all the other familiar characters are well cast. There are two Lawyer Marks and two bloodhounds and they always work in pairs. The escape of Eliza Harris is as thrilling as ever, and the pathetic points of the play are well brought out. There is considerable singing and dancing between the crack of the slave whips and the bay of the bloodhounds, and Maj. Kibble gives a lightning military drill with animals. AN ENTIRE CITY BLOCK IN THE MILL

Four Times Larger Than the Former Location - They Will Employ Fully

The Pullman Palace Car Co. has closed ne new manufacturing site and deeds to the property, bought in the name of John M. Clark, have been filed for record.

In securing the amount of ground required to restablish the enterprise in this city four different interests were bought out, representing in the aggregate a purchase of $148,000, and the probabilities are that the company will buy more property in the immediate vicinity, as the growing importance of its business at this point destreets the company had a frontage of 430 feet, about half of which was used for car building and the remainder for machinery purposes. With the destruction of the ings on that site an attempt made to purchase the whole remaining portion of the block, the recent sale of a part of the desired realty to a party who holds the key to the situation, and who refused to sell unless he was paid a fabulous price. Other places which the Pullman company had been looking at with a view to buying were the Ootton Compress property west of Grand avenue, near Chouteau, the old Red Stocking Base Ball Park on Compton avenue, close to the tracks in the Mill Creek Valley, the Rankin property on Theresa avenue, near the Missouri Pacific Railway tracks, and also ground owned by Walter Taylor, situated between the Pacific and 'Frisco Railways beyond Grand avenue, and 'Frisco Railways beyond Grand avenue where the old stock yards used to be located where the old stock yards used to be socated.

WHERE THE PROPERTY LIES.

The new location embraces the whole of city block No. 2623, bounded by Scott avenue on the south, Bernard street on the north, Cardinal avenue on the west and Montrose on the east. Only one narrow block intervenes between this property and the north side of railway tracks in the Mill Oresk valley. Two-thirds of the next block north of Person railway tracks in the Mill Creek valley. Two-thirds of the next block north of Bernard street, with a frontage on Cardinal avenue was also bought. This gives the company a front-age of two blocks on the east line of Cardinal avenue extending from Scott avenue on the south to Adams street on the north—an area nal and Montrose, was bought for $100,000 from Mrs. Adelaide W. Barnett, one of the Wiggins heirs, wife of W. H. Barnett, who is Wiggins heirs, wife of W. H. Barnett, who is reported to have purchased the ground for $25,000 only a few years ago. This transaction illustrates the enhancing value of realty in that locality, where the demand for manufacturing sites, stimulated by the recent development in railway terminals, has trebled prices within the past few months. The Barnett block, omiting the dividing alleys, has a frontage of $45 feet on Scott avenue and $70 on Cardinal avenue. In city black No. has a frontage of 845 feet on Scott avenue and 170 on Cardinal avenue. In city black No. 2,653, the Pullman Co. bought the whole Cardinal avenue frontage of 225 feet by a depth of 125 to the alley, from the Manufacturers' Real Estate Co., for $25,000. Joining the alley on the east there is a plat of 165x120 feet at the northwest corner of Bernard street an

This deal has been pending for more than a month past. It was practically closed last week, as intimated in the Post-Disparch, when Mr. Pullman was here and went all over the property, when he decided that it was best adapted to his purpose of any ground that he could buy in the city. Parties who profess to know a good deal about this enterprise say that the Pullmans contemplate the employment of 1,000 hands at their new plant, and that it will be built ready for operation with little delay as possible.

Mrs. Lucy Barnum Stone's Petition for Divorce from Samuel Gaty Stone. Mrs. Lucy Barnum Stone, through her law-yers, Reynolds & Lewis, this morning filed her petition for divorce from Samuel Gaty Stone, on the grounds of cruelty and neglect.

Mrs. W. H. Stone, mother of the respondent in the divorce suit, denies many of the statements made yesterday by Mrs. Lucy Barnum Stone. She says that the young wife was a scoffer at her husband's religion, and used her influence to keep him away from the church; that the was also very extravagant, and that her extravagance kept young Stone, who was only a salaried clerk, continually in debt; that she never came into any money of her own, and consequently it was not squanpetition for divorce from Samuel Gaty Stone debt; that she hever came into any money of her own, and consequently it was not squan-dered by the husband, and that so far from Sam Stone's having taken her jewelry and clothing to pawn them, that the young wife never had any jewelry of value or any fine raiment except what was given to her by her husband and his family.

WHEELING BANKER'S DAUGHTER ABDUCTED —CRIMINAL NEWS.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 8.—Miss Amy Morgan, daughter of a Wheeling banker, left a young man who accompanied her home from church at the gate Sunday night. As she entered the house she discovered she had dropped a letter and went back after it. She dropped a letter and went back after it. She was selzed at the gate by two masked men who thrust her into a closed carriage and drove all night. At daylight the girl, who was blindfolded, heard one of the men pounding at the door of a house. He came back and said: "We are here. The game is up." The two held a consultation as to whether to kill the girl or let her go. They decided to let her go. The girl ran and walked ten miles and then struck a rall-road at Kilrey, sixteen miles from Belaire and twenty-five miles from home. She got back yesterday exhausted.

benefit of the estates which he robbed. The assignment is now held by one of the attorneys for the estate in this city and will probably be filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds within a few days. There was considerable surprise expressed by some of Baker's creditors when told that the assignment made by Baker was simply for the benefit of the estates. As nearly all of his creditors hold as collateral for the loans made to Baker some of the securities of the Baker estate, transferred to them by a power of attorney, they will try to recover in the courts. The counsel for the Baker estate assert that these counsel for the Baker estate assert that these powers of attorney are fraudulent, while the holders contend that they are genuine, as John R. Baker, Jr., was the authorized attorney for the estate of Charles F. Baker, and therefore had full power to transfer the securities.

HABITUAL DRUNKENNESS. The Talmage Definition Not Accepted by

Most of the time of the court in room No. this morning was taken up in hearing the divorce suit of Lucy vs. Thomas Murray. They were married in January, 1874, in East St. Louis, and lived together until March, 1890. Thomas is a railroad engineer and is charged with abusing his wife and with having neglected to provide for his family, although re-ceiving $125 a month as engineer. He was also charged with habitual drunkenoess, and the wife and her mother and other relatives who testified considered him a drunkard, although it appeared that he never neglected his duties as a railroad engineer, and Judge Withrow was unable to understand how an habitual unable to understand how an habitual drunkard could nold such a responsible position as a locomotive engineer. Judge Jones, Mrs. Murray's attorney, said that Rev. Dr. Talmage classed all drinkers as habitual drunkards, but the court could not accept the Talmage definition of an habitual drunkard. Mrs. S. Murray's mother said that she never saw any one who could pour down whisky like Tom could, and she sometimes thought that he had been raised on it.

The defendant was not present but was represented by an attorney. The court granted Mrs. Murray a divorce with custody of the child, a girl of 16 years, but granted defendant leave to visit the girl once a week, Several divorce suits were heard in Judge GEN. RUGER TRAGES of the War Department to day sent an order to Gen. Ruger commanding the department of Dakota, assigning him to the command of the division of the Pacific, with headquarters at San Francisco. Gen. Ruger is to assume command of the Division ground for the application for divorce was habitual drunkenness and abuse and the charges were proven by a number of withing the state of habitual drunkenness and abuse and the charges were proven by a number of witnesses. The court granted Mrs. Brown a divorce and the restoration of her maiden name. There are no children. The defendant was not present or represented.

Charles L. Byrd was the plaintiff in a divorse suit against Margaret A. Byrd. They were married in 1877 and separated in 1881. Mrs. Charles Emerson of Twenty-seventh street and Franklin avenue, gave the plaintiff a good character and testified to the abusive conduct of his wife, and this testimony was corroborated by that of several other witnesses. Mrs. Debrey, the daughter of a Mr. Smith living at 1821 South Sixth street, testified that she caught Mrs. Byrd committing adultery with a man in Crystal City, Mo., before her separation from her husband, and again after the separation, her paramour this time being the husband of the witness, from whom the latter is now separated.

The court granted a divorce to Mr. Byrd.

The court granted a divorce to Mr. Byrd, room as soon as the decree was granted and walked down stairs to the Marriage License office with Miss Sarah C. Tribble of Kansas City, and was there granted authority to marry her. The marriage is to take place this evening in Jefferson County, where Mr. Byrd had such bitter experience in his first matrimonial cage. He obtained his divorce from his first wife on the ground of adultery, which was clearly proven in court. Byrd is a street car conductor and lives at 2872 Easton avenue.

a street car conductor and lives at 3872 Easton avenue.

Henry Zeitz had a terrible tale of woe to tell against his wife, Mary. They lived together from May, 1887, to August, 1890, and she never cooked his meals for him or sewed his buttons on his clothes. She stayed out late nights and used to call him vile names and throw things at him. She told one of the plaintiffs witnesses, Mrs. Pauline Crommeller, that she left her husband because she didn't want to cook and wash for a Dutchman. Divorce granted.

Emil Keller was granted a divorce from his wife Hal conditionally, the condition being that the costs of the suitbe first paid, Henry Bibb was also granted a divorce from his wife Sailie. The parties are colored, the husband being employed at Shickle & Harrison's foundry.

Mrs. Levi Leaves Her Husband for R.

F Mrs. Abraham Levi, a married woman living at 714 Wash street, is missing, and with her disappearance must also be recorded that of a young peddler named R. Robinski and transferred. If he is forced to go to Cincinof a young peddler named R. Robinski and Mr. Levi's furniture. The story came out this morning by Levi appearing in Justice Manning's court and having issued a writ of replevin for the furniture, which he supposes has been sold to some second-hand dealer. It is another case, according to Levi's story, of "gone with a handsomer" man with a difference in years that makes the case peculiar. Young Robinski is only 25, while the woman he left town with is fully 85.

The Levis came to America from Russia some five years ago, locating in St. Louis felt that there was a little feeling against the transfer, stating in New York well not play anywhere else. Just what answer he will make is not known, but it is very probable that he will be kept on the local team. For some time O'Rourke has some five years ago, locating in St. Louis formation that his wife had gone away with young Robinski.

Since the return of the husband and his discovery of the elopement the neighbors have been telling bad stories on Mrs. Levi and her lover, who is described as an exceptionally good-looking young man, with high forehead and strong-cut features, while his paramour is anything but lovely. A short time ago Mrs. Levi and Robinski took a trip of three days together during the absence of the husband, and when they returned made no effort to hide from their neighbors their loving demonstrations. Nothing was said to the husband on his return, and he lived on in blissful ignorance of the occurrences that were takignorance of the occurrences that were tak-ing place around him. It took complete flight to shatter his faith in the woman who had so long been his helpmeet. Levi told his story in broken English, and stated that it was only the furniture which he desired returned, and that he would not bother the eloping couple.

ENCOUNTER BETWEEN HORSEMEN.

The Victor Arrested This Morning on Charge of Assault and Battery. Late last evening Edward Knepper, a North

Broadway stable owner, and Walter Chensy, horse trader, indulged in a real, effective and blood-spilling pugilistic contest in Knepper's stables. The quarrel was over a horse deal in which Chensy claims to have eccived the worst of the deal, and after bantle the matter then and there without further ado or controversy. The front doors of the stable were kindly closed by an interested friend of the parties, and they then proceed-ed to indulge in a fistic encounter. Knepper received several hard blows about the face and finally came into collision with his opponent's good right hand with such force that he dropped to the ground, not again arising to resume the fight. Chensy looked at his fallen enemy and then walked in Justice Manning's Court, making a charge of assault and battery, and the trial will oc cur this afternoon at 4 o'clock.

How Judge Cady Settled the Trouble in the Brooks Family.

Officer Davis was three blocks away from Ninth and Poplar streets at about 2 o'clock this morning, when he heard the plercing scream of a woman's voice. An occasiona shriek enabled the officer to trace the sound to the room of Richard Brooks. On opening the door he found Brooks, a burly colored man, standing over his wife with a club up raised over her head. Davis placed both of raised over her head. Davis paced both of them in the holdover at the Four Courts. At 9 o'clock they were sent into the First District Police Court on cross charges of disturbing the peace. Brooks claims that the woman was drunk and attacked him when he went home from work. Mrs. Brooks, however, in-sisted that the husband had gotten a woman

For some time o'Rourke has some five years ago, locating in St. Louis shortly after their arrival. Robinski lived in the same town in the old country with them, and wrote letters of inquiry concerning faraway America. His answers were encouraging and he came directly to St. Louis, taking board with his old friends, the Levis. The husband did not object to the couple going out together, and suspected nothing until the final revelation came yesterday. A week ago he went to the country on a peddling form that if he wanted his release he could have it. After thinking the matter over he leased at the time, but matter over he leased at the time, but matter over he factorily adjusted.

Mr. Stanley told a reporter yesterday that the total number of miles he had traveled in all his exploration of Africa was 25,000 and that he had broken the record by over 20,000 miles on his lecture journey.

"Was the tour financially successful?"

"But Casati's book is out and I see that he says that but for your meeting with Emin your expedition would probably have perished—that your men were ragged and hungry and broken down, and it would have gone badly with you if Emin had not relieved your wants."

"I have not seen Casati's book, but I think all the controversy about the expedition is settled. There are too many witnesses for us against the other side—Nelson, Jephson, Bonny, Park and myself."

Maj. Pond is highly pleased with the results of the Stanley tour. He says he paid Stanley twice as much as any lecturer in the world ever got before, and he is going to tempt him with a big offer to come back to America in October and deliver 100 lectures more.
